Public Welfare Open New Offices

The Department of Public Welfare, Government of Alberta, have opened their new regional office in Blairmore. The office has been centrally located in the completely redecorated Joe Kubik building at 720 Victoria Street on Blairmore's main street.

The offices, formerly located in Pincher Creek, have been transferred to Blairmore with a view to providing a more central location where the service provided may be administered to better advantage and nearer to the majority of population in need of welfare services.

The present staff of the new office is supervised by W. C. Thompson, who has approximately fourteen years' service with the Provincial Civil Service, and since 1953 in the Welfare field.

The new supervisor has represented the department in Wetaskiwin, Drumheller and Olds.

The secretary for the new office is Miss Violet Huss, who has, for the past year, been on the staff of the Pincher Creek office. Prior to joining the Civil Service Miss Huss was employed in a Pincher Creek law office. She is a business college graduate.

It is anticipated one more full-time worker will be added to the staff in the near future. At the present time G. Fisher, an experienced and capable social worker from the Lethbridge office, is assisting with the work here.

It will be the purpose of the staff at the local regional office to administer the various programs efficiently and courteously. The social assistance programs administered by the province, together with all pensions, apart from Old Age

Security, will be taken care of in the new office as well as the Social Allowance program. The Child Welfare program will include placing of children with a view to adoption, child protection, securing approved foster homes and many other responsibilities of the Provincial Child Welfare program.

The staff of the new office have indicated their desire to work in close co-operation with all other agencies in the welfare field of work including work with village, town and municipal workers.

The local office has indicated that for all who require welfare services their needs will be met when the need and eligibility is established. All matters are confidential and all cases will be respected. All individuals have the right and obligation to take as much responsibility as possible in seeking a solution to his or her problem. In helping a person with a problem the aim of the social worker in the local office will be to assist the person as much as possible towards a solution of his need and at the same time leave him free to make his own choices along the way.

The new office in Blairmore is one of 25 Provincial Regional Welfare offices and the opening of this new office should facilitate the administration of the Welfare programs under the jurisdiction of the Provincial Welfare Department.

Revolver Club Awards Presented

A number of members of the Southern Alberta - British Columbia Revolver and Pistol Club League met in Lethbridge recently when winners of the various annual awards were named. All of the awards were not ready in time for presentation so this was delayed and winners were to receive their awards at another time.

An evening of entertainment was enjoyed by the members and a buffet lunch and refreshments were provided by Sicks of Lethbridge.

In the Master event 22 class Warner Heisig of Calgary, was the match winner and first went to Len Barrows of Sweet Grass, who won the first Master and Dan McAlpine also of Sweet Grass, took second place. In the 38 revolver class Warner Heisig took first and Al Mochel came second.

In the Expert class 22 revolver, winners were G. Danielson, J. Kennedy, T. Bellamy and W. Nicholson, all of Edgewater, and in the 38 class, Arthur Tomsett of Coleman topped the pole with W. Nicholson of Edgewater, placing 2nd.

In the Sharpshooter division the winners were, J. Degroot and Les Shields of Calgary and D. Lewis and W. Hendrickson of Edgewater, while the 38 class was won by Les Shields of Calgary.

Marksmen events were won by R. Lim of Edgewater, J. R. Smith of Calgary and Ed Cunliffe and S. Uchida of Edgewater, and the 38 class was taken by Art Furlong of Sweet Grass.

In the Tyros (beginners in first competition) competition, winners were A. Taretta of Edgewater, A. Walton and J. Frizelle of Calgary.

Winners of the 'A' team event: the Calgary squad over the Edgewater entries, while the 'B' team event was taken by the Edgewater group.

PREVENTION

Too much discord and conflict can lead to broken homes. What causes family breakdowns and can they be prevented? Phillips Cable Plant Opened by Harry Hays

Harry Hays, Federal Minister of Agriculture, officially opened the new $1,500,000 Phillips Cable plant at Sentinel April 30th, 1965, at a golden key ceremony attended by over 150 persons. Many Pass and Southern Alberta dignitaries attended the opening at the plant and banquet dinner held at Turtle Mountain Hotel.

The new plant at Sentinel will open some time this summer and will employ about 75 persons, of whom about one-third will be women. A training program is being planned for the local residents who will be employed. Over 150 applicants have been interviewed by Myles Brown, personnel officer for Phillips.

The plant will fabricate about one million feet of telephone cable each year and it is expected the plant will be in full production early this fall.

The large building to house the new industry was built by Oland Construction of Lethbridge. Installation of machinery in the plant is scheduled to start this month.

Speakers at the official opening indicated a number of other large firms were interested in taking advantage of the tax concessions provided by the Federal government for industry establishing in this "designated area".

Theodore M. Brown, South Alberta Pioneer, Passes April 26

Theodore Mathias (Matt) Brown, age 90 years, a former rancher of the Porcupine Hills district, and a resident of Pincher Creek for the past 17 years, passed away in the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital on Monday, April 26, 1965.

Mr. Brown, who proudly claimed to be a descendant of the Pilgrims of the "Mayflower", was born in Bond County, Illinois, U.S.A., on June 14th, 1874.

Prior to coming to Canada he was a school-master and later operated a general store. In 1906 he migrated to Canada and purchased a ranch at Spring Point which he operated until his retirement to Pincher Creek in 1947.

The ranch was well known for its hospitality.

Besides being a rancher he was postmaster and mail carrier at Spring Point for 37 years, and he made the proud boast that only once in those 37 years that he missed a trip of conveying the mail.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown celebrated their sixty-sixth wedding anniversary on August 25th, 1963, at Pincher Creek.

Left to mourn his death are his wife Susan; two daughters, Mrs. J. B. (Ethel) Fischer of Spring Point, and Mrs. T. (Mildred) Holstead of Coleman; three grand children, Mrs. J. (Pearl) Hanrahan, Mrs. W. (Helen) Wesley and Mrs. A. Pharis of Coleman; seven great grandchildren, one great, great grandchild, one sister, Mrs. B. Ohren of Florida, and one brother, Dr. H. Brown of Colorado Springs, Colo., U.S.A.

Funeral services were conducted from the United Church at Pincher Creek at 2 p.m. Thursday, April 29th. Mr. Peter Walker, Minister of St. Paul's United Church, officiated, and spoke on the life of the deceased, comparing him to that of the "Good Samaritan", quoting the words of kindness shown will live in the hearts of many generations.

The Church was filled by old-timers and friends, showing the high esteem in which Mr. Brown was held. The United Church choir was in attendance and sang the anthem "The Old Rugged Cross".

Hymns sung were "Just As I Am" and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again". Pallbearers were Messrs. Joseph Hunter, Arnold Jordan, Joseph Glass, Fred Welch, Harold Bratton and John Howarth.

Former Resident Passes Away

Mr. Havocok Hulbert, a former resident of Coleman, passed away at Medicine Hat on Friday, April 16th.

Surviving are his wife Gertrude, two daughters, Mrs. Roy (Ivona) Beddington of Lethbridge, and Mrs. C. (Shirley) Patton of Medicine Hat, and two sons, Vans of Sparwood, B. C., and Vincent of Chalk River, Ont.

Funeral services were held on Monday, April 19th at 1:30 p.m. at Cook's Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Brown-Milne officiating. Interment was in the Hillside cemetery at Medicine Hat.

C. W. L. Elect New Officers

Mrs. Lorraine Aiello was returned for the second term as president of the Coleman Catholic Women's League at a meeting held this week.

To assist Mrs. Aiello, Mrs. Anne Vasek was returned as secretary for her fourth term, and Mrs. Pat Kovalik was returned as treasurer for the second year.

After the election plans were completed for the annual spring picnic scheduled to be held in the Catholic hall on May 1st.

Rev. W. Kreski gave an interesting demonstration of announcing the sick in their homes. The attendance prize was won by Mrs. C. Bohomolek.

Kanonaskis Highway Now Open

The Kanonaskis Highway, from Coleman north to the Highwood Junction, which was closed to the public for spring break-up, has now been opened for travel effective April 30th. This road is reported to be in good driving, but dusty condition.

Also, in line with the other provincial offices the Crows Nest Forest Headquarters at Blairmore will be on summer hours from May 3rd to September 17th inclusive. These new hours will be: 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., with lunch break from 11:45 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. The above hours do not apply to the Forest District Headquarters.

An estimated 170,000 visitors have toured the GM of Canada passenger car assembly lines at Oshawa in the past 10 years. A walking tour would take days to complete, so visitors travel by motorized "train".

C. N. P. Riding Club Elect Officers

David Decoux of Blairmore was elected as president of the Crows Nest Pass Riding Club at the annual meeting held last week.

Other officers elected to carry out the Club business for the forthcoming term are:

Vice-president, Walter Zur.
Secretary, Jeanette Baher.
Treasurer, Mrs. Mary Trotz.
Arena Directors: Joe and Bill Troz.

Equipment committee, Brian Zak and Brian Decoux.

Time keeper, Mrs. Marge Hal-luck.

Recorder, Mrs. Molly Schuffe.

Joe Trotz and C. Zur will be the local club delegates to the Pincher Creek gymkhana circuit board.

The local Club will take out membership in the Pincher Creek Gymkhana Circuit in which it is expected five clubs will be members. Trophy competitions will be held during the year.

Each club will sponsor one gymkhana during the season for points. The Crows Nest Pass Riding Club event will be held on July 25th.

The local club will also compete for its own club trophies in senior, junior and Little Britches events. It was decided to hold three gymkhanas and one trail ride each month.

Plans call for guest speakers to attend some of the Club meetings and these speakers will talk on the subjects of veterinarian care of horses, reining, showmanship and other interesting topics.

The May 2nd meeting will feature films on Arabian horses and a speaker will be in attendance. The meeting is open to the public and a silver collection will be taken.

Reports given indicated that the Club had again enjoyed a successful year with a total membership of 82-75 per cent of whom were active in club events.

Some new equipment will be purchased for this season and renovations to the club house and the grounds is on the agenda.

Purpose of the Club is to promote and encourage every degree of horsemanship for both young and old and membership is open to all from Pasburgh, Alberta, to Sparwood, B. C.

The Club report that after the fall dance held in the Catholic hall a pair of girl's eyeglasses was found. The owner or anyone knowing who the glasses belong to is asked to contact the secretary, Jeanette Baher or Mrs. Laura Trotz.

S. A. Tourist Council Annual Meeting

A meeting of the Southern Alberta Tourist Council was held at the Turtle Mountain Hotel, Frank, on April 20th.

President Hugh Craig called the meeting to order at 6:30 p.m.

The president outlined the functions of the Alberta Government Travel Bureau and the Alberta Tourist Association, respectively.

The former, he said, is dedicated to promotion outside of the province while the Alberta Tourist Association's function is to cater to visitors once they have arrived in the province. President Craig gave details of joint advertising with the provincial government on a dollar for dollar basis up to a total of $15,000.

Mr. Max Brown suggested that advertising in such publications as The Star Weekly, at a cost of from $4850 to $8700 per page issue would get wider coverage than the SATC folders. The director pointed out that distribution of the SATC booklet was judiciously done exclusively to tourists and potential visitors to the area and that much of the circulation of National magazines is confined to outside of our prime tourist area. The cost of such advertising, he added, is well beyond the means of SATC.

Jack Colwell suggested that quotations be secured from Week-end Magazine for regional advertising, and requested the director to secure quotations per page in this publication for coverage of the Prairie Provinces and B. C.

Mr. Colwell explained the difficulties encountered in the Crows Nest Pass to collect money to pay for SATC membership and feels that if present efforts fail, a direct canvass will be started in the area.

President Craig read a report of the Nominating committee, viz.: President, Hugh Craig; Walter National Park; 1st vice-president, Roy Fisher, Lethbridge; 2nd vice-president, Dennis Burt, Cardston.

Directors: John Davis, Fort Macleod; L. E. Smith, Claresholm; Austin Macleod, Pincher Creek; Ross Petrie, Taber, and Doug Redding, Coalville.

Additional directors will be suggested by the Nominating committee at the next meeting.

Moved by John Davis, seconded by Max Brown, that the partial list of directors and the officers be declared elected.—Carried.

Moved by Jack Colwell pointed out that only a total of 110 SATC brochures were sent to the ATA booth at St. Mary during last year and felt that this prime border point should have more brochures in the area. Steiner to check with

Nick Paskivuski Receives $15,000

Nick Paskivuski, 8-year-old Coleman lad who lost both his legs in a mishap February 12, 1965, received a lovely Easter gift on Easter Sunday morning when Al Krywolt of Coleman, representing Continental Casualty Co. brought the lad a certified cheque for the sum of $15,000. The cheque was to cover the loss of the lad's legs as covered by a $1 school insurance policy.

Nick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephan Paskivuski, was enrolled in school in Coleman when the mishap occurred at about 1:10 p.m. Reports indicated the lad was standing on the south side of the railway track, waiting for a slow moving freight to go by. Reports of others also waiting for the train to go by, allege that the lad was standing very close to the tracks and touching box cars as they were slowly moving west. It is said his clothing caught on the side of a box car and threw him under the wheels.

The lad was rushed to the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital by a panel truck that was waiting to cross the tracks. It was found necessary to amputate both legs below the knees.

Nick is now making good recovery at his home and will soon be fitted with artificial limbs.

ATA

Gordon Muspratt asked that SATC take action to improve highway number 3. Steiner advised him that the Lethbridge Chamber of Commerce meets with the Minister of Highways each November, that a draft of the submission made to him is circulated to all communities in the area some time in May and that all suggestions are considered for inclusion in the submission and that each community is invited to send a representative to meet with the Minister on his annual meeting with the Lethbridge Chamber.

Jack Colwell expressed hope that the difficulties previously encountered at the Fort Macleod Information Booth should be considered as water under the bridge and hoped that ATA will see to it that similar incidents do not occur in the future. President Craig assured him that ATA will run the booth efficiently.

Moved by Don Thornton, seconded by Jack Colwell, that SATC be registered under the Societies' Act of Alberta.—Carried.

Moved by John Davis, seconded by Max Brown, that the signing officers be K. M. Steiner and either Roy Fisher, Hugh Craig or Dennis Burt.—Carried.

Prairie Provinces Heading Towards Water Shortage

(Third of a series)

Alberta has a good reason for maintaining its present water resources policies and resisting continental sharing schemes such as NAWAPA (North American Water and Power Alliance). This is the realization that the province's water reserves are not unlimited; that with use in every field growing at a tremendous rate the province, without sensible control, could ultimately have a water shortage.

Says F. L. Grindley, Director of the Water Resources Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, "in the interim, our job is to ensure that we adequately and equitably meet the needs of Albertans, and, at the same time, ensure that water originating in this province is not wasted to the detriment of users elsewhere, particularly in Saskatchewan and Manitoba, which so heavily rely on rivers originating in this province."

Grindley and others in the Water Resources Branch believe the needs of Albertans are being adequately met, and they feel that occasional complaints from irrigation farmers are a reflection of a misunderstanding as to what is involved in turning normally erratic rivers into devoted servants of agriculture.

"Normally," he says, "a river such as the Bow, from which three irrigation districts draw water, would be high in the spring, when irrigation water is not needed; extremely low in the summer, when irrigation water is very much needed; and occasionally high again in the fall, when, in most years, there is a surplus rather than a shortage of ground moisture. If an irrigation farmer does not receive all of the water he needs or desires during the summer, he may be tempted to blame the upstream power developer, claiming that the developer is withholding water in order to produce power. This isn't so. The power developer merely stores water from the spring flow — water which would otherwise have flowed from the province — and, in low flow periods, release it, to the advantage of the irrigation farmer who would otherwise have little or no water. Without upstream development, — irrigation along rivers such as the Bow would be extremely difficult, since the flow would be a feast-or-famine proposition."

The rights of irrigation farmers — these rights are protected by provincial statute — are only one of three major considerations guiding Alberta's water resources policy. The others are the needs of municipalities and industry and the demands of public health officials who cope with the growing problem of pollution control.

Not long ago, there was an outbreak of infectious hepatitis in a Saskatchewan community.

Some laid the blame on the community's sewage lagoon, others to a river, originating in Alberta, from which the community draws its water and into which numerous towns dump treated and untreated sewage.

The source was never tracked down. But Alberta was blamed.

The Water Resources Branch has strived to ensure that enough water originating in the run-off area of Western Alberta reaches communities of Saskatchewan and Manitoba to ensure that river pollution will not be a problem.

In line with this deformation, the branch favors upstream water storage projects in Alberta, giving its blessing to power development on the Bow River and latterly, to construction of power facilities on the Brazeau, a tributary of the North Saskatchewan.

The Brazeau project was initiated by the Provincial Health Department and is designed to store water for release in winter, in order to increase the level of the North Saskatchewan, which flows through Edmonton and other major Alberta communities, and thence into Saskatchewan and Manitoba. The purpose is to increase the winter flow thereby improving the river's ability to absorb — though oxygenated enzymatic action — the effluents that are being poured into it. The provincial government was not enthusiastic over the prospect of spending $20,000,000 on a pollution-control dam, so when Calgary Power Ltd., which had been planning to construct additional power facilities on the Bow, came forward with a proposal for joint use of the Brazeau facility, the province listened. The result was an arrangement under which the province's initial outlay was reduced to under $14,000,000, with this to be recovered when the company, after investing an estimated $40,000,000 in capital, buys out the provincial government facility by 1960, at the latest. The joint undertaking resulted in the province achieving its objective, while, at the same time, avoiding an increase in costs to the power consumer.

Unfortunately, the arrangement became a political football, with critics of the government and of investor-owned utilities claiming it constituted a "sellout" to private interests. The sin-ciscent critics ignored some important points, — these being that pollution of the North Saskatchewan had reached an intolerable stage, with Alberta actually facing the threat of legal action from its neighboring provinces, and the fact that the government would be able to take care of the pollution problem on the North Saskatchewan with minimum cost to the taxpayers.

The impact of upstream development on pollution control is obvious. George Underhill, Calgary District Engineer for the Water Resources Branch, reports that the winter flow in the Bow River in Calgary now is between 1800 and 2,000 cubic feet per second, compared to between 500 and 1,000 cubic feet per second — with occasional dips to less than 125 cubic feet per second — in the days before upstream power dams were constructed. Similarly, winter flow in the North Saskatchewan in Edmonton is now between 1900 and 2400 cubic feet per second, compared with a pre-Brazeau norm of between 1200 and 1400 feet per second, with flows occasionally dipping to as low as 400 cubic feet per second.

Critics of Alberta's water policy often ignore the rights of a major — though non-consumptive — user of water.

This is industry.

To a large degree, Alberta's industrial development has hinged on the availability of water, with numerous manufacturers locating plants in this province only because the provincial government's policy ensures an adequate, year-round supply of water for cooling required in manufacturing operations and for waste disposal.

The Bow and the North Saskatchewan rivers have had a tremendous impact on the major communities through which they flow, with both Edmonton and Calgary attracting large industries only because once uncertain river flow has been "levelled out" by upstream power development.

Says a Water Branch spokesman "Water has been a key to industrial development in this province. And since industry is gradually becoming the backbone of our economy, the interests of the industrial user must have equal weight with those of the farmer and the householder."

The air cleaner of your car's engine should be cleaned and re-oiled at the recommended intervals. A dirty air cleaner can reduce mileage by 10 per cent.

divided among many sects, war-raging over privilege, preference and practice. Yet, as M.R.A. reminds us and as Pope John and others have said, if we would truly live the precepts of Christ how different the world would be!

Buddhism presents the story of the Buddha, the faith he founded and how it is manifested today. Born a Prince of India at 29 he chose the way of poverty and self-denial. He taught a faith that rules the lives and hopes of millions.

The film takes us throughout South East Asia, to India, Burma, Ceylon, Thailand, Japan and China. It is a journey across many frontiers, not only of countries, but also of history and ideas. It is challenging to learn that Buddhists have a missionary arm directed to the West, seeking to civilize us — obviously a warrior people who march out generation after generation bringing war, misery and death to all!

Hinduism was filmed in India, home of this faith and of most of its present adherents. It traces the course of Hinduism from its sources in the Vedas, religious "books" of 3,000 years ago. Shown are some of the observances of this faith, its teaching of non-violence — Gandhi was its greatest modern exponent — its respect for all living things, and the social order created by it. The film concludes with the admonition of Lord Krishna: "When the fire of greed is out and the smoke of desire rises no longer, then shall man know that God is everywhere, and that there is no other."

Islam is winning converts everywhere but more particularly in Africa. This film explores the faith of the Muslims, taking us to Mecca, birthplace of the Prophet Mohammed, and to the shrine of Islam's holy of holies, the Ka'aba, or Cube. Following the routes of Muslim conquest we see the shrines of holy men and heroes, from Cairo to Pakistan. Wherever we go in this vast empire the power of Islam is apparent in soaring domes and noble architecture. Against this background the film relates the history of Mohammed and his rise to leadership, spiritual and temporal.

The Great Religions films were produced in 1962. They portray the major religious faiths of mankind, their history and how they are practiced today. Christianity, basically the faith of Christ, is adhered to around the world. Although the Sermon on the Mount is one of the noblest expressions of man, its nominal adherents are downed favored Chelsea to win a birth in the final, while Leeds, a strong defensive squad, defeated Manchester United in a replay, after holding them to a scoreless tie in a ruggedly-played first game. The opening kick-off will be at 1 p.m.

That same Saturday morning, there will be a special Early Bird telecast joining the U.S. and England, produced jointly by CBS News and the BBC and honoring the 20th anniversary of the German surrender in Europe.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower, with CBS News correspondent, Walter Cronkite in New York, and Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein with a BBC correspondent at Sir Winston Churchill's War Cabinet Room in London, join in a tribute to Allied fighting men of the Second World War. The telecast will also revisit many of the historic sites of the war.

"Europe, 20 Years After" will be seen at 11 a.m. in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, at 10 a.m. in Alberta.

Tony Curtis and Academy Award winning actor Sidney Poitier star in Saturday evening's Great Movie, "The Defiant Ones". Poitier plays a Negro convict who escapes from a prison chain gang chained to another prisoner, Tony Curtis, a bitter enemy. During their desperate flight from the law, the two men share the most harrowing experiences, but only the threat of death brings them together in spirit. That's "The Defiant Ones". Saturday, May 8 at 8:30 p.m.

CBC casting director Eva Langborg, actress Frances Hyland and ingenue Stellar Finlayson consider the problems of becoming a professional actor in Canada on Show on Shows, Sunday afternoon, May 9th at 5 p.m. In addition to the segment entitled "So You Want To Become An Actor?" Timothy Findley talks to Quebec sculptor Ulysse Cormier.

Any health plan for Canada must have as its long-range aim healthier citizens living in a good economic environment, having their health needs tended by well-trained professionals working with the best equipment. There are wide differences of opinion about the best way of achieving this. To acquaint the public with the issues involved in making health services easily available to everyone CBC television is running a four-part series entitled "Healthier, Wealthier, Wiser". — In addition to its TV scheduling on Mondays at 10 p.m., the series will be heard on CBC radio Thursday evenings at 9 o'clock.

This week the program is entitled "The Doctors" and takes a candid look at doctors as professionals and as individuals.

It examines their public image, their fears and frustrations and hopes for the future. And medicare? Other Voices, Tuesday, May 11 at 10:30 p.m. will present the much delayed interview with Leni Riefenstahl, the German film maker whose documentaries penetrated all aspects of Nazi life. Included in her work were such subjects as top echelon party meetings, the growth of Hitler's army and air force and the Berlin Olympic Games. Miss Riefenstahl, now 53, will be interviewed in Vienna by Charles Wasserman and will describe her work, her association with Adolf Hitler and her present thoughts about her films.

Special Appeal by Fire Commissioner

The Alberta Fire Commissioner makes a special appeal for added fire precautions in the home. Commenting upon the death by fire of a two and a half year old boy in the Beaverlodge district, Mr. Bridges said, "this brings the death toll from fire in Alberta to date in 1965 to five — two children and three men."

In 1964 there were 70 deaths by fire, of which 36 were children. With full public awareness of fire dangers it is hoped that the 1965 fire death record could be much improved. Consequently it is necessary to be on guard always against fire in the home, but most important, to guarantee the safety of small children they must never be left without a responsible adult exercising careful supervision.

Safe Vehicle Eases Mind

"The motorist of today has enough worries as he drives without adding concern about his car," claimed K. N. Marriott, vice-chairman of the Canadian Highway Safety Council's vehicle safety committee.

Mr. Marriott, a service supervisor with Shell Canada Ltd., Toronto, urged every motorist to have his car thoroughly checked by a reliable technician before venturing into the approaching summer conditions on the highway.

He referred to the Council's April-May car-check campaign and said it was a time to make certain every detail of every vehicle was safe and sound.

"After putting a car through the rigors of a Canadian winter," said Mr. Marriott, "the owner has a responsibility to his passengers, to himself and to other motorists to be certain his care is in safe condition. Don't wait until the accident occurs."

More than $765 million is spent in Canada each year by General Motors for goods, services, wages and taxes. The company makes regular purchases from 5,000 Canadian suppliers.
